POLICEMAN ENNIS DIES PARKER SAYS HE BUILDERS FEAR IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Wife-Murderer, Executed in Sing Sing Prison, Tortured by Electrode, Which Burns His Forehead--Makes Confession and Expresses Deep Repentance.

William H. Ennis, the first policeman to go to the electric chair in the inited States, was put to death in Sing Sing Prison to-day for the murder of is wife in her home on Jan. 14, 1202.

When the current was first turned on there was a blaze from the electrode applied to the right forehead. When the body was examined it was found that the flesh around the edge of the electrode had been burned by the electricity.

Ennis entered the death chamber at 5.55 A. M. Before him walked Principal Keeper Connaughton, and on either side were Fathers Mahoney

Ennis walked to the chair with a firm step and sat down, and the at tendants quickly adjusted the straps and electrodes. At 5.57 A. M. the current was turned on. It consisted of 1,800 volts and 8 amperes, and was kept up for six seconds; then the current was reduced to 200 volts and kept on half a minute. After a brief examination by the doctors the current was again started, and a shock similar to the first was given. A second examination was made, and at 6.01 the man was declared dead.

After the body had been removed to an acjoining room an autopsy performed by Dr. F. A. Spitzka, of New York, assisted by Dr. P. Collard, of wife. Then he took the stand. Ossining. The body will be taken by relatives to Saratoga Springs to-day.

Ennis made a confession a few days ago in which he admitted he had been shamming insanity. It was not until he had been caught that he confessed, and then he laughed and told the doctors that he was glad it was all over, as the feigning of insanity had been an awful strain upon him. His feigning of insanity was so well done that he fooled the prison authorities.

The body of Ennis is expected to reach Saratoga at minnight, where it will be taken charge of by Undertaker W. J. Burke. The remains will be conveyed to the farm residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Ennis, where the funeral will be held to-morrow morning. Interment will be in St. Peter's Catholic Cemetery in Saratoga.

One was that vehicles shall "not pull over to the right until entirely clear of vehicle it attempts to pass in front racts on which surface railway bars run in but one direction vehicles must move in the same direction as the cars, and not opposite thereto."

It is also proposed to amend the ordinance to compel rubber-tired vehicles when turning corners. Motor vehicles signals instead of bells. Another proposed amendment was that "in turn while in motion, or in starting to turn by raising the whip or hand, indicating with it the direction in which the turn is to be made."

Another suggestion of Mr. Eno was that no provision was made for the limitation of the age of drivers of icensed vehicles, so, as he said, a five-rear-old boy might be permitted to live a truck s year-old boy might be permitted to drive a truck.

Alderman Joseph Oatman, a member of the Aldermanic Committee that framed new rules, said there was no danger from this, as no one ownling a licensed truck would be likely to employ a small boy to drive it. But Mr. Eno and Borough President Cantor said it would cost no inconvenience to insert an amendment torbidding a boy under sixteen years to drive a truck.

Aldermen Mathews and Oatman said that if the Board of Aldermen at their meeting to-morrow would be willing to adopt the amendments they would offer no objection, but they said they feared if the entire new rules were sent back to the Board it might result in the whole matter going over to the next

The Mayor decided that the proposed amendment need not interfere with his formal approval of the new rules of the road and he affixed his signature to them. Alderman Oatman will introduce the amendments to the new rules suggested by Mr. Eno at the meeting of the Board to-morrow.
